—It now turns out that Mary Anderson did not write that foolish article on acting which appeared in the North American Review. It was the work of Bill Winter, who is acting as a sort of literary auxiliary to the frigid Mary. After all Mary is not as big a fool as the boys thought.

—Those California papers which are endeavoring to be facetious over the request of a Nevada Legislative delegation for the cession to Nevada of that part of the Golden State lying east of the summit of the Sierra, entirely ignore the wishes and convenience of at least three of the California counties directly interested, to-wit: Alpine, Mono and Inyo.—Truckee Republican.

—About twenty of the little tots are to be dressed to represent flowers at the Kermis. The old woman in the shoe will be on hand. The father of his country has consented to appear without the hatchet and it is positively his last appearance. Martha will support him through the ordeal. Queen Elizabeth, Columbia, Turks, Japs, Gypsies, etc., are to be seen.

Carson Opera House Feb. 4 and 5. Admission 50 cents.

—If the Nevada people fail to secure a slice of California, one reason of their failure will be because they ask too much. The plan of wanting to take in most of Pinellas Lassen and Modoc counties will be sure to meet with opposition in those localities. It would be better policy to ask only for that portion of the watershed of the Sierra Nevada in which the streams run into Nevada. No streams run into Nevada north of Sierra County.—Truckee Republican.

—The dry cold weather of the early winter months is productive of a great deal of croup among children. Mothers should be on the lookout for it, and be prepared to arrest it as soon as the first symptoms appear. True croup never comes without a warning; a day or two before the attack the child will become hoarse, and that symptom is soon followed by a peculiar, rough cough. If Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is given as soon as this hoarseness or cough appears, all danger and anxiety may be avoided. It has never failed, even in the most severe cases. There is no danger in giving the Remedy for it contains no injurious substance. For Sale by G. C. Thaxter.

The Little Louisiana Lottery Promptly Pays Its Capital Prize.

J. A. Pothoff, yesterday morning received $7,500, by Wells, Fargo's express from the Little Louisiana Lottery Company, of San Francisco, Cal., as the capital prize for ticket No. 5,882, held by him. This is the third capital prize that has been drawn in this State; twice in Virginia and once here, and once the lucky number was sent back from Virginia with $5 50 worth of tickets that were not sold. The Journal congratulates Johnny on his lucky purchase, as $7,500 is a neat little addition to his wealth. The ticket was bought of John Belz, who took Mr. Pothoff's receipt for the same and returned it to the company yesterday.—Journal.

Public Schools Mistaken for Neries.

Silver State: Some parents have an idea that school teachers do not have sufficient work to do, so they take it upon themselves to send their three and four-year old darlings to school, in order to rid themselves of the noise the infants make. Parents should not infringe upon the rights, time and patience of teachers, who are too indolgent to send the babies home to their cradles, the place where they belong. Don't make wet nurses out of poor public school teachers any more, by sending husslings to our kindergartens.

Amusements.

A good-sized audience greeted Richards & Pringle's Georgia Minstrels at the Clunie Opera House last night. The entertainment was a very pleasing one, although the programme was a trifle to long. Billy Kersands, whose trade mark is his big mouth, and George Jackson and Ed. and Frank Mallory were the principal fun makers, who occupied the ends of the "circle" and perpetrated old and new gags, sang comic ditties and kept the audience in good humor. J. W. Watt, the tenor singer, has a fine voice and was called upon to repeat his songs a number of times. One of the features of the show was the performance of W. G. Huff on a small harmonica; he can literally make the little instrument talk. The most difficult airs were rendered in a charming manner, and Huff was recalled six or seven times to repeat them. Another entertaining feature was the marching, and baton exercises of several drum majors.

There are a number of excellent dancers in the company. Another performance will be given this evening, when it is promised, there will be a change of programme.—Sacramento Bee.

A Dog's Queer Freak.

A little over a week ago Mrs. George McLoughlin went to San Francisco on a short visit, and took her three children. These children were the constant playmate of "Old Abe" a bull dog about twelve years old. The day after Mrs. McLoughlin had left, the dog began searching everywhere about the house and not finding her or the children, set up a most dismal moaning and absolutely refused to eat. Mr. McLoughlin tried everything he could think of to tempt his palate but he refused to touch anything in the way of food or drink. He got thinner and weaker every day, finally Mr. McLoughlin wrote to his wife to come home or the dog would die. When she returned, the dog was reduced to a skeleton but as soon as she reached the house he set up a cry of delight and when the children offered him food he ate ravenously. He has now recovered his spirits, and part of his lost weight.

Again Deceived.

Two years ago the Governor gave a reception at his residence, and who does not remember how the innocent looking punch he served mowed down the great East?

This year he promised his constituents that he would not have that kind of punch any more, but he broke his pledge, for the Editor of the APPEAL only drank a couple of glasses, more or less, and he got to the open street with some one else's hat.

The hat is a half size to small for us. It is black felt with a little piece of square sticking plaster in the front inside, probably to identify it.

The man who swapped hats will please return it, or else the man who concocted the punch had better send round a new hat. No. 7½ is our size.

Got a Pointer.

Adolph Shane, bet $50 on Brannan and won. He got a pointer on Matt's hitting powers in a highly practical way.

A man from Reno offered to bet $50 on Elliott with Shane, but the latter was cautious and held off. One day Matt was in the saloon, and Shane got him into the back room and invited him to put on the gloves.

After sparring a few seconds Matt planted a right-hander on Shane's nose and landed him on the floor. As Shane wiped the blood off his nose he called out to his barkeeper, "I say Billy, if that Reno man comes in again, and I'm not here, cover his bet, and raise him fifty."
